“Over the years, I have trained hundreds of dogs and owners in my training classes. I love all the dogs I train, but Butch was a standout way back in Puppy Class. Not only was he a cutie with that blue eye of his, but his personality was infectious! Jeff tried his darndest, but when Butch was done working, he was DONE. He became a Boston terrier rug lying on the floor! Jeff was so patient, but no amount of coaxing would get Butch to move when he didn't want to! You might say he was our class clown! However, that stubborn little puppy did go on to earn his Canine Good Citizenship Certificate.

“It's been the greatest pleasure working with both Jeff and Butch over the past few years! All dog lovers will enjoy My Buddy Butch: Confessions of a New Dog Dad.”

~ Leslie Jeandrevin ~ Professional Dog Trainer

“My Buddy Butch: Confessions of a New Dog Dad is an endearing romp through the lives and rituals of Jeff and his new Boston terrier pal. As you read it, you feel like a fly on the wall or, at the very least, one of Jeff's neighbors, driving by and seeing him play ball with Butch out in the yard. Dog lovers will of course enjoy this book, but fellow Boston terrier fanatics will especially laugh at Jeff's descriptions of those Boston traits we know so well: reverse sneezing (AKA the snorffles!), the breed's innate athleticism, that infamous Boston tenacity, and, of course, the silent yet deep bond we share.”

~ BJ Gamboa, WOOOF.com - A Boston Terrier Board

“In My Buddy Butch: Confessions of a New Dog Dad Jeff easily connects with the reader with his easy-to-read conversational style. He has written an entertaining story about Boston terriers, life, love and relationships. You come away from this experience knowing you made two new friends – Jeff and Butch.”
